(Ticketed Separately)

Registration for the Southeast Regional Fruit and Vegetable Conference or the North American Berry Conference does not include Tour tickets. Members and non-members (adults or children) are invited to purchase tickets at the same price. Tickets must be purchased in advance. NASGA may not be able to accommodate last minute ticket requests.

7:15 am -- Our buses will depart on schedule

- ◆ In Route to Pooler, GA
Overview of Savannah Area Green Industry and Agriculture
David Linvill, Chatham County Extension Agent

- ◆ Tour of Ottawa Farms - Pooler, GA
Hosted by Pete Waller

This 700 acre farm is one of few farms still operating in Chatham County. Pete Waller, the owner, is the third generation to carry on the tradition of "old time farming." They specialize in PYO strawberries and blueberries, and also have onions, corn and other produce.

- ◆ In Route to Statesboro, GA
Georgia Watermelon & Vegetable Production Information
Dr. George Boyhan, UGA Extension Vegetable Specialist

- ◆ Tour of Clark Farm and Produce - Twin City, GA
Hosted by Al Clark
A family owned and operated business, Clark Farm takes service to a new level. They shell your peas and butter beans, boil the peanuts freshly picked out of their field, and, for a small fee, will deliver the produce to your door. They offer school tours, gift baskets with fruit and canned products and hayrides for families or small parties.

- ◆ In Route to Claxton, GA
Overview of Georgia Small Fruit Industry
Dr. Gerard Krewer, UGA Extension Small Fruit Specialist

- ◆ Lunch at Harry's BBQ - Claxton, GA
Welcome, Mike Dollar - UGA Evans County Extension Coordinator

- ◆ Tour of Wilbanks Apiary - Claxton, GA
Hosted by: Reg Wilbanks
Wilbanks Apiaries, in its fifth generation of family ownership, is among the largest commercial beekeeping concerns in Georgia, with 6,000 honeybee colonies. They are a major supplier of packaged bees.

- ◆ In Route to Tattnall County.
"Farm Fresh Tattnall" Marketing Program
Reid Torrance, UGA Area Onion Agent

- ◆ Tattnall County is one of the largest and most diversified agricultural counties in Georgia. Tour two farms that are part of the Farm Fresh Tattnall, Inc., a new farmer co-op. It's members are folks that have been in the roadside market and U-Pick produce business for years.

- ◆ D.C. Durrence Farm -- Reidsville, GA
Hosted by Danny Durrence
- ◆ W. A. Rogers and Sons Farm Market --
Glennville, GA
Hosted by Alex Rogers

5:00 pm -- Return to Hotel in Savannah (Dinner on Your Own)

NASGA thanks Dr. Gerard Krewer for coordinating this tour.
